DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-56 and 69-99, drawn to a cocrystal, classified in class 562, subclass 400+.
- II. Claim 57, drawn to a method of generating a cocrystal, classified in class 562, subclass 400+.
- III. Claims 58-60, drawn to a method of preparing a cocrystal, classified in class 562, subclass 400+.
- IV. Claims 61-63, drawn to a method of modifying physical properties of a drug formulation, classified in class 562, subclass 400+.
- V. Claim 64, drawn to a method of preparing cocrystalline pharmaceutical composition, classified in class 562, subclass 400+.
- VI. Claims 65-66, drawn to a method of preparing cocrystal from a hydrate, classified in class 562, subclass 400+.
- VII. Claims 67-68, drawn to a method of preparing a cocrystal from a solvate, classified in class 562, subclass 400+.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II, I and III, I and VI, I and VII are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make another and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the cocrystal can be prepared by seeding a saturated solution of comprising the guest and the agent with a small quantity of cocrystal and allowing the cocrystal to form.

Inventions I and IV, I and V are unrelated. There is patentable co-action between these groups.

Inventions II and III, II and VI, II and VII, III and VI, III and VII, VI and VII are directed to related processes. The related inventions are distinct if the (1) the inventions as claimed are either not capable of use together or can have a materially different design, mode of operation, function, or effect; (2) the inventions do not overlap in scope, i.e., are mutually exclusive; and (3) the inventions as claimed are not obvious variants. See MPEP § 806.05(j). In the instant case, the inventions as claimed are not capable of use together. Each process is a unique method of obtaining a cocrystal. Furthermore, the inventions as claimed do not encompass overlapping subject matter and there is nothing of record to show them to be obvious variants.

Inventions II and IV, II and V, III and IV, III and V, VI and IV, VI and V, VII and IV, VII and V are unrelated. There is patentable co-action between these groups.

Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
